WOMAN DIES IN STOVE POLISH EXPLOSION

DRESS IGNITES FROM BLAZE IN UNITY HOME OF MRS. WM. BAKER

Victim is Fatally Burned at Work in Kitchen.

SON IS INJURED

Husband, Blind, is Unable to Aid Wife.

Mrs. Della Baker, 60, died in her home in Unity, near East Palestine, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning from burns sustained Saturday when Polish which she was using to blacken a cook stove exploded, igniting her dress.

Coroner Conducts Inquest.
Bert Justinson, 25, a son, responding to his mother's screams, was badly burned on the arms and hands when he attempted to beat out the flames. William Baker, her blind husband, who was also in the house, was unable to render assistance.

Mrs. Baker was bending over the stove applying Polish when it ignited. Her dress caught fire from the blast and she was burned over almost her entire body before the flames were extinguished. She was attended by an East Palestine physician.

Coroner J. M. Van Pelt, East Palestine, rendered a verdict of "burns sustained in an explosion" at an inquest conducted at Unity yesterday afternoon.

Today

The Pacific Conquered.
A Good Name Pays.
Few Sudden Changes.
She Won't Eat Sugar.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

ANOTHER flight over the Pacific, from Oakland's magnificent flying field to the Wheeler field in Hawaii. Another 3,000-mile "hop" over the big ocean will end in the Fiji Islands and the final landing will be at Melbourne, Australia.

Even Nietzsche, who invented the "superman," could hardly have predicted such giant hops.

UNDER Mussolini's directions, Italians are always doing something worth while, and new.

While five nations hunt for Gen. Nobile in the Arctic circle, Maj. Ferri and Capt. Delprete set a new world's record in duration flight.

IT pays to build a good name by efficiency, quality, value, AND ADVERTISING. E. E. Inton, buying the Chick-Neat Coffee company, for the Postum company, pays $45,000,000, according to the Nashville Tennessean.

ADVERTISING enables a man with energy, to do in a few years the work of a century.

And it guarantees to the public continuation of values. One who has intelligently put millions into a good name would rather set fire to all his factories than injure the name, much harder to build, more valuable than any factory.

Canada is enthusiastic about the Coolidge-Kellogg plan for outlawing war. Britain and other European countries are friendly to it in a mild way.

It is possible to outlaw war successfully before you change the characters of men and nations?

Mobs in China shot Japanese soldiers. Would any law have prevented that?

THE IMPORTANT THING IS TO KEEP PREPARED.

WOMAN finds many ways of both-ing honest business. She wears hats the size of flower pots, made of plain felt, little profit in them.
She has given up cotton petticoats, injuring cotton growers and spinners.
Her silk dresses would hardly fit an eight-year-old child. Bad for silk manufacturers.

And now sugar manufacturers complain that business has fallen off 500,000 tons. Women give up sugar to get thin.

UNCLE SAM'S big pile of gold, greatest the world ever saw, is dwindling, drifting to Europe.
Since September 1 we have "lost," in gold, $452,000,000. And that isn't all.

HE'S HONOR MAN

Zanesville, Ohio, can be proud of Midshipman Charles R. Watts, who has just been named as honor man of this year's graduating class at Annapolis. In addition he is the recipient of the sword offered by the class of '21 for proficiency in oratory and the binoculars presented by the Cleveland Society of Naval Academy Graduates to the Ohio man standing highest in his studies.

DOGS BITE 18 IN OUTBREAK OF RABIES HERE

Check-up Show Many Persons Have Taken Treatment.

30-DAY REPORT

Make Post-Mortem Examination in Death of Girl.

A rabies epidemic, to which one death has been attributed, prevails in the East Liverpool district.

Eighteen persons, who are said to have been bitten by mad dogs, have taken the Pasteur treatment during the last 30 days, according to bills which have been filed with the county commissioners. The cost of the serum and treatment is approximately $30, according to L. H. Johnson, clerk to the county commissioners.

More than a dozen dogs, thought to have been suffering from rabies, have been killed here during the last month.

Denies Rabies Report.

Patrolman Herman Roth, owner of the police dog which attacked Mrs. Whitehill, today denied the report that he had received word from the state chemist to the effect that an examination of the animal's head showed it to be suffering from rabies.

"Dog's head decomposed, satisfactory examination impossible," was the telegram received by Roth four days after the head was packed and shipped to Columbus, the patrolman said. Health Commissioner, Edward Miskall, however, announced about two weeks ago that he had been advised from Columbus that the dog was suffering from rabies. Miskall left for Columbus yesterday for the laboratory report in this case.

Mrs. Whitehill began taking the Pasteur treatments about a week after she was bitten and apparently had recovered when she was suddenly stricken ill last Thursday. Her death resulted within 48 hours later.

Await Laboratory Report.

Dr. C. M. McCandless, Lisbon veterinarian, has treated score or more of East Liverpool dogs, said to have been exposed to other dogs suffering from rabies. Treatments have also been administered by Dr. W. O. McGuigan, this city.

Rabies can be prevented if treated.

COOLIDGE NAME PROBABLY WILL BE PRESENTED TO G. O. P. MEET

C. D. Hilles Leads Draft Movement at Kansas City.

FRIENDS ON JOB
Reports Say President Has Written Letter to "Spokesman."

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
KANSAS CITY, June 4.—The name of Calvin Coolidge quite probably will be presented to the Republican national convention here next week and voted upon—unless and until the president, by some positive definite action, forbids it.

This much seemed assured today as the G. O. P. elders gathered in Kansas City and got down to the actual work of the convention, the first of which is the settlement of the perennial quarrels among the ill-Whites and the blacks-and-tans of the always Democratic south.

The "Draft Coolidge Whether or No" movement reached Kansas City in the person of Charles D. Hilles, the New York national committeeman, who has been the chief rallying post for the anti-Hoover forces of the east. Like a sentinel pine Hilles has stood out against the gale-like winds that have blown many of the other leaders into the Hoover camp. He may have swayed at times, but he has never fallen.

Who will present the magic name of Coolidge, if it is to be formally presented to the convention; who will lead the fight in the open and behind the scenes, Mr. Hilles did not say, but he appeared quite confident that when the balloting begins ten days hence there will be a lot of votes to be added in the column that carries at its masthead the name of Calvin Coolidge.

The only way in which he can be prevented, in the opinion of Mr. Hilles, and incidentally some others, will be for the president to flatly put his foot down. Mr. Hilles doesn't pretend to know whether that will be done or not; nor do any of the other leaders here pretend to know.

There are reports, persistent enough but not confirmable, that Mr. Coolidge already has prepared for such a contingency as his name being presented to the convention. There are reports that he has written a letter which has been entrusted to a "spokesman" and which is to be read to the convention when and if his name is presented. Almost everyone in Kansas City has heard of such a letter, but no one has seen it and, in fact, no one can be found who has heard of anyone that has seen it.

Anti-Hoover Forces Busy.

Friends of Wm. M. Butler, chairman of the National committee who naturally would be the president's spokesman in such a matter, deny emphatically that Mr. Butler has any such missive. Others whose names have been linked in the gossip are equally emphatic in their denials. Hence, the conclusion reached by the drafters is that no such letter is in existence, at least, yet. And in that situation they are going ahead with their plans.

They can, in fact, do little else but go ahead. To haul down their flag now, at this stage of the proceedings, would be tantamount to admitting the impossibility of "Stopping Hoover." Half the New York delegation (Continued on Page 8, Column 3)

GUNMEN KILL CHICAGO COP

Another Man Shot in Hold-ups by Bootleggers.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Policeman William O'Connor was shot and killed and another man was shot and may die in a series of holdups today by a gang believed by police to be bootleggers.

Within eight hours of the shooting of O'Connor police arrested Samuel Roth, 23, as a suspect, when he was found near the scene of the crime with a loaded revolver in his possession. Policeman O'Connor died in a desperate battle with gunmen after he had surprised them in the act of robbing a soft drink parlor.

Four men entered a restaurant, lined patrons against the wall, and shot Samuel Paich, 30, when he resisted. At a hospital it was said Paich may die.

WINGING WAY ACROSS PACIFIC TO AUSTRALIA

The quartet above is on its way to Australia by air, after completing the Oakland, Calif., Honolulu leg of the long flight, hopped for Honolulu Thursday. They propose to take the course shown on the map, stopping at Suva Island and Brisbane, Australia, before landing at Sydney. Left to right are Capt. H. W. Lyon, navigator; Capt. Kingsford-Smith, pilot; Capt. C. P. T. Ulm, relief pilot and James W. Warner, radio operator.

"Lady Lindy" and Pals Off for Trepassey

Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon, With England as Ultimate Destination, Leave Halifax.

TREPASSEY BAY, Newfoundland, June 4.—The trans-Atlantic plane Friendship, bearing Wilmer Stultz, Miss Amelia Earhart and Lou Gordon, arrived here from Halifax, N. S., at 2:28 o'clock p. m., local time.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 4.—The trans-Atlantic plane Friendship, carrying Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Louis Gordon, hopped off at 9:30 this morning, daylight time, for Trepassey, Newfoundland, on the second leg of its trip to Europe. Weather conditions were perfect.

Equipped with pontoons, the plane swooped down through the cloud banks, made a perfect landing in the harbor and moored near the Halifax naval air station here yesterday after an uneventful journey from Boston. A few minutes later, the plane took off again for Trepassey, but the heavy fog prompted Stultz to return here about 30 minutes later. The murky atmosphere prevented any further attempts to take off during the day.

250-Mile Jump.
The distance from here to Trepassey is about 250 miles. From there after inspecting their engines and refilling their tanks, the fliers will take off over the long water jump. If conditions are favorable, the take-off from Trepassey may be made later today.

The fliers were expected to reach Trepassey by 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Replica of Southern Cross.

Miss Earhart hopes to be the first woman flier to successfully cross the north Atlantic ocean in a non-stop flight. She will relieve Stultz at the controls during their contemplated flight to England. She is a capable pilot, having more than 500 hours of solo flying to her credit.

The greatest secrecy shrouded the preparations for the flight. The plane, a Fokker, officially recorded as the NX-4204, was purchased from Commander Richard E. Byrd, who originally intended using it on his forthcoming Antarctic expedition. Preparations for the flight had been going on for weeks, but the announcement of the sale of the plane was not made until last Friday.

Except that the Friendship is equipped with pontoons, it is almost an exact replica of the Southern Cross, which is now winging its way over the Pacific.

Aviatrix Served As War Nurse.
Miss Earhart served in the Canadian Red Cross as a nurse throughout the war. Later she went to California where she took up aviation.

Stultz jumped into the limelight last year as the pilot for Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane Dawn in its first take-off. Engine trouble developed on the ill-fated plane when the ship was several hundred miles at sea, but Stultz managed to bring it back to Old Orchard Beach, Me., in safety. Later the dawn was lost, with Mrs. Grayson and two men fliers aboard. (Continued on Page 8, Col. One)

CHANG'S TRAIN BOMBED AS HE FLEES PEKING

Former Dictator is Wounded; Bodyguard Killed.

OTHERS INJURED
Chinese Blame Japan for Attack Upon Marshal.

LONDON, June 4.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, former dictator of the Peking government, was slightly wounded, several members of his bodyguard were killed and members of his personal suite were injured when Chang's train, upon which he was fleeing from Peking to Mukden, was bombed just outside of Mukden early today, according to a Tokio dispatch to the Evening News. Three coaches of the train were wrecked.

The Chinese accuse Japan of responsibility for the bombing to assure Chang's downfall.

Foreign office officials said this afternoon they had no official confirmation of the press report that Chang had been wounded by a bomb explosion.

Chang Arrives at Mukden.

LONDON, June 4.—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, the northern war lord who left Peking as swarming hordes of southern Chinese troops poured into the city, arrived safely at Mukden, Manchuria, although he suffered a narrow escape from death when his train was wrecked by the bombing of a bridge enroute, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokio stated today.

During the journey, it was reported, the train guards opened fire with machine guns upon a party of alleged southern troops, dressed in civilian clothes. Thirty of the alleged southerners were killed.

Japanese troops are reported to have arrested two Chinese in whose possession bombs were found.

TOURING CAR REPORTED STOLEN
Police today was searching for a Ford touring car carrying license No. 472-231, belonging to A. A. Smith, 1055 Ambrose avenue, which was stolen while parked in West Sixth street, near Jefferson, Saturday night.

HEROES OF AIR RUN INTO BAD WEATHER 800 MILES FROM FIJI

Speed From Hawaii on 3,100-mile Journey.

PASS PHOENIX
Southern Cross Should Reach Goal Before Night.

HONOLULU, T. H., June 4.—The monoplane Southern Cross on the last leg of its perilous 3,100-mile flight from Hawaii to Suva, Fiji islands, ran into bad weather early today 800 miles from its goal.

Message to Honolulu.

A message to Radio corporation here today direct from the plane gave its position at 5 a. m., island time, as latitude 7-6 south; longitude 174 west.

"Eight hundred miles to Suva," added the message. "Bad weather."

Call Samoa Station.

Conditions were not improving according to a message from the plane intercepted by radio corporation at 6:45 a. m.

The plane began calling N. P. U., the American naval radio station at Tutuila, Samoa, and sent the station the following message:

"Hello, Samoa. How do you get us? Have poor flying conditions. Weather very changeable. Dodging rain clouds. Flying circles some times."

It was recalled that Captain Kingsford-Smith had planned to take an emergency landing at Suva.

The group in the British Isles, about 2,500 on Hawaii, the message called. An American naval station, however, gave no hint that the plane was considering such a landing.

Had the plane faltered or the supply run short, Captain Kingsford-Smith, commander of the aerial adventure, had planned to make an emergency landing on the Phoenix group, a few tiny specks, representing the only land on the path of the airmen on their long journey.

The islands were reached and passed, however, early today. Indicating the four men on board the big trimotored monoplane were certain of their ability to carry on to Suva.

The plane was 24 hours out from Kaula at 5:20 a. m., island time and at its present rate of speed should reach Suva sometime between 3:30 p. m. island time and 6 p. m., tonight.

Radio Tells of Progress.

As on the 2,400-mile hop from California to Hawaii, the unflinching radio told the progress of the hazardous venture.

These messages told of storms and the struggle to raise above them with a missing motor as calmly as a mar would say "good morning." These men already reconciled to death, but fighting every minute to live, take their troubles lightly and in a jesting mood. Their radio quips, flashing out of the darkness, are dramatic. For instance:

"A race between us and the clouds. Going to 10,000 (altitude). Going to be a bad night. Motors doing heavy pulling to 6,500."

The message was received at 9:40 last night, Pacific time. Five minutes later came this:

"Still circling for altitude."

Encountering Rain Storms.

Taking off from Barking Sands at 5:20 Sunday morning, the huge plane circled the field once and then started a bee line for Suva.

MAN OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES

Pulmotor Revives Alanda S. Martin, Laborer.

Alanda S. "Red" Martin, 45, laborer, was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from a water heater in a vacant East Sixth street apartment yesterday morning.

Martin, who had been cleaning the rooms preparatory to occupying them, was found unconscious on the floor of the bathroom by a boy. The boy summoned Felix Anania and another man who carried Martin to a porch. After efforts to locate a physician had failed Patrolman James Haley called the pulmotor from the Central fire station.

Martin was revived after about 15 minutes' work. He was later taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance but was discharged Sunday night.

Three Women Facing Shoplifting Charge

Trio Accused of Having Stolen Wearing Apparel
From East Liverpool Stores; Will Get Hearing Tonight.

Three Wellsville women, two of whom have been married, accused of having stolen articles of wearing apparel from five East Liverpool stores, will face Mayor Wallace L. Fogo tonight on charges of shoplifting.

Chief of Police John Fultz and Patrolman John Cole Saturday arrested Miss Mabel Newell and Mrs. Hazel Donohue, while Patrolmen Edward Pugh and Albert Oyster arrested Mrs. Edna Legan.

The Newell girl, with a boy companion, was arrested last week by Chief Fultz on a charge of breaking and entering the T. C. McClelland home, Clark avenue, and stealing jewelry and money. She was bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond.

According to Chief of Police Fultz, the three women are said to have taken wearing apparel valued at approximately $300 from the East Liverpool stores, their alleged thefts including coats, dresses, hats, slippers, hosiery, lingerie and even men's trousers.

Police say the goods came from the Ross Store, Penny store, Erlanger's, Ogilvie's and Sulkes.

A majority of the wearing apparel said to have been taken from these stores was taken on the recent circus day in East Liverpool, according to the story told police by the women.

Representatives of the stores will be asked to identify their property at the city hall tonight.

KIWANIS TO HOLD BUSINESS MEET

Wellsville Kiwanis club members will hold their weekly noon luncheon meeting tomorrow in the United Presbyterian church.

Saponara is scheduled to get a hearing before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo tonight.

Charles Kutz, Empire, arrested by Mayor W. L. Fogo on a charge of reckless driving, paid a fine of $5.

Ion Bogges and Lee Smallwood, both of Wellsville, arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, paid fines of $25 and $10, respectively, at hearing last night.

CAR GOES OVER EMBANKMENT

Two Escape Injuries;
Driver Held for Hearing.

Two Empire men, riding in a Buick sedan, escaped without a scratch when their automobile suddenly left the road just below the Frail grocery store in the Wellsville-East Liverpool highway Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, plunged over the hillside struck the store, knocked out a section of the foundation beneath it, and dropped down the embankment about 25 feet below where it stopped.

Charles Rudman, driving the machine, was arrested by Wellsville police on a charge of reckless driving. He posted bond of $300 for a hearing tonight before Mayor Wallace L. Fogo.

Rudman's car, according to police, first struck another machine parked in front of the Frail store and then jumped the concrete curb, hitting the store itself.

With the exception of a few scratches, the automobile was not damaged, police say. The engine was started again and it was driven up a dirt road leading from a point adjacent to the spot where it landed, to the main highway. It was then taken to the fire station here where it will be held pending the disposition of Rudman's case.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin.

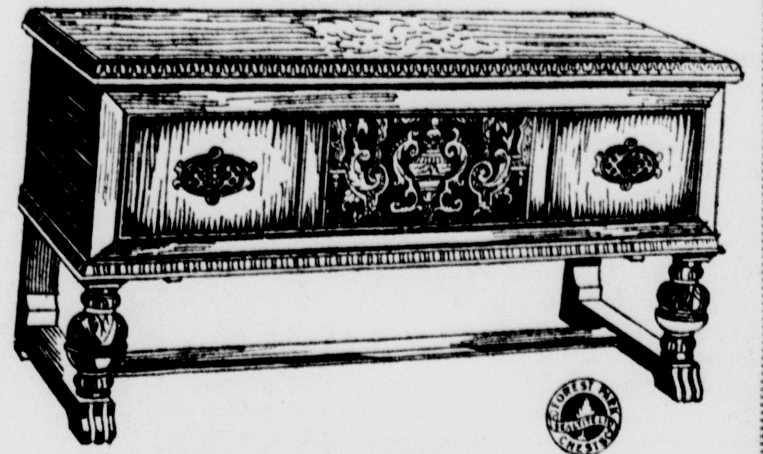

The bride is a graduate nurse of the Ohio Valley hospital. They will reside temporarily with the groom's parents in Steubenville.

War on Dogs

Police campaign against canines which, despite the belated summer, appear to be subject to so-called fits, is expected to be launched as a result of the death of an East Liverpool woman who was attacked by a dog less than a month ago.

Pasture treatment failed to save the life of Mrs. Alma Herrington Whitehill who was bitten while playing with a police dog on a leash on May 8. Although state chemists reported that the head of the dog, which was killed by the owner, was too badly decomposed to permit a thorough examination, it was deemed advisable to take precautions against rabies.

Hydrophobia, a term frequently used in referring to dog madness, is an acute infectious disease occurring epidemically chiefly among carnivorous animals, especially the dog and wolf. It is transferred to man by the implantation of a specific virus through the bite from, or by the inoculation with the saliva, of a rabid animal.

Although the police dog case is the first reported in which there was a suspicion of rabies, it has not been definitely determined, according to the owner, that the canine was mad. However, the fatal result should prompt action looking toward prevention of a possible outbreak of the disease.

Owners should be instructed to keep a close watch on their dogs, while canines running at large should be impounded by the county dog warden since East Liverpool has no dog catcher.

Brides and Conventions

June, the month of brides, and—this year—political conventions, is at hand. There will be June brides all month, but it is only one week until the Republicans forgoth at Kansas City, and considerably less than a month until the Democrats meet at Houston. Of the two, June brides or national conventions, it may be safely said that the conventions will carry a wider appeal this year.

Things are all scrambled up among the Republicans at this time. The Democratic situation is not quite so mixed. The Republicans are as sensitive and gun-shy as an old maid trying to win a Miss America contest. There is no little agitation among the Democrats, but all of it is aimed at Governor Al Smith.

Herbert Hoover and Governor Smith, on the face of delegates pledged, appear to have the nominations of their respective parties sewed up. But appearances are as deceiving as the changing tides, and it is yet possible for anything to happen.

There is a concerted movement against the nomination of his state's rights attitude, which is nationally interpreted as a decided leaning toward the wets.

And there is an united movement in some quarters against Hoover, not because he is wet, and not because of his Republicanism, but because the followers of certain of the other candidates are of the belief that he is not the strongest man the party might nominate, and thus insure a continuance of the present regime in the White House.

There is still—or yet—another factor insofar as the Republicans are concerned. This draft movement for Mr. Coolidge continues to fret the men who are striving to secure the Republican convention endorsement for Hoover, or Frank Lowden, or Vice-President Dawes, or Senator Curtis, or Senator Watson.

That "Win with Coolidge" slogan of four years ago is a thorn in the side of the men who hope Mr. Coolidge meant what he said last summer on his Black Hills vacation, and will decline to permit the use of his name at the Kansas City convention. There is every likelihood, however, that Mr. Coolidge's name will be presented to the convention—and it is an odds-on bet, in event it is, that a stampede to him will be the result.

Political conventions are noted for their unreliability, particularly where there is an undetermined factor which must be considered. If there was but one outstanding man in the race for the nomination at Kansas City, the result would be cut and dried—the convention merely a formality. But there are several unpledged delegations going to Kansas City for the purpose of nominating the man they believe has the best chance of winning, and who will make at least as good a president as Mr. Coolidge has made—which will be a large order.

The unpledged delegations, then, are the ones which must be considered in trying to arrive at some definite calculation. Hoover and Lowden may claim all the pledged delegates they wish, but if they haven't sufficient votes to be nominated on the first serious ballot of the caucus, which neither them will have, then it is the unpledged delegation, or delegations, which will jump into the saddle and run the nomination to suit themselves.

Senator Watson is not to be taken seriously in his candidacy. Neither is Senator Curtis. That leaves Hoover, Lowden and Dawes, as the outstanding candidates, although Dawes is unannounced himself. But there are other Republicans available—men of outstanding capabilities—and the mentioning of their names in nomination, in event of a deadlock, might spring a huge surprise.

And there always is that Coolidge angle. Unless a very definite declaration comes from Mr. Coolidge, it is not beyond the probabilities that his name will start the ball rolling toward his renomination.

Down at Houston, after the Republicans get through, the Democrats will get into the nomination battle. The fight there will be all anti-Smith—whatever fight there is. In the Democratic party it is the field against Smith. But as this written it seems more than likely the New York governor will be able to secure the nomination not later than the third or fourth ballot so great will be his strength at the outset.

At any rate, the public will be in for a lot of politics during the remainder of the summer. The June brides will have been long forgotten before the smoke of battle, which already is rolling up over the horizon, is cleared away at the November election.

Every nation is eager for its neighbors to renounce war.

Then, too, traffic congestion on land has something to do with the aviation boom.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Every day is wash day! Such a statement would cause housewives to shudder or make those who pride themselves upon being modern wonder at such lack of system. To the government hotels laundry it means business, the bigger the better.

There is no blue Monday in an establishment of this kind, and washing is not a chore to be got over with as soon as possible. This super-washwoman launders between four and five million pieces of flat work annually. This amount does not include bundles of personal goods and garments.

From the United States capitol will come about 50,000 pieces weekly and from the treasury, twelve to fifteen thousand. Practically all the washing for the government including the laundry of government employees who live in the government hotels is done in this plant and includes sheets, pillow-cases, towels, dresser covers, rugs, uniforms, tablecloths and napkins, uniforms, coats, and maids' caps, ruffs, seedbags, white coats, operating robes, and uniforms of the National Guard.

The fact that every day the wash amounts to from twenty to thirty thousand pieces of flat work, numerous bundles of more delicate materials, socks, and dresses would make any washwoman who bends over tubs wringing her hands at the amount of wringing to be done.

However, the laundering of several thousand towels is no job at all in this plant. A lot of 1500 towels can be counted, soaked, washed, rinsed, extracted, ironed, aired, folded, and stacked in two hours' time along with the rest of the work.

As soon as the load is counted near the entrance door the total is checked with that of the accompanying list. If it is short even one small piece the sender is informed. He must either come over to make a recount, or accept the count of the laundry's checkers. If the totals balance, a corresponding amount of freshly bathed pieces is sent to stock the shelves of the sender.

Flat work which comes from these sources has already been marked either by indelible ink or by lettering woven in the material, some times in colored stripes. It is sorted so that materials of different weight are classed separately, bath towels, face towels, table linen, and delicate garments composing distinct loads.

The washing begins. The pieces are put in a "break" or soaking of cold water and soda, the latter a water softener, for about twenty minutes. The machines which do the washing vary in capacity from four to fifteen hundred pieces. Perhaps the load is 1500 towels, not so badly soiled. They are washed with liquid soap and water built up with some softening soda for another twenty minutes. In this case the water will run out rather clear and they can then be rinsed. When the waste water shows that the clothes are more soiled, they are washed again and again, if necessary. Badly stained linen is handled separately and the spots are bleached out.

The more delicate pieces of personal laundry such as blouses and lingerie are bundled in net bags and washed together, obviating sorting, and at the same time protecting them from wear.

Pieces that are to be rough-dried, a service which is made cheaper to those who are willing to do their own ironing, are hung on a fascinating traveler equipped with hobs, and are slowly conveyed through a drying room. When they emerge from their leisurely journey they are dry and sweet as if given the benefit of sun and air.

This is true of all the clothes, for no matter what kind, and by what process they are handled, provision is always made for airing. Bath towels are "tumbled" in machines, ventilated with fresh warm air, revolving back and forth to come out at the end of an hour soft and fresh and fluffy.

Socks and stockings are slipped over metal forms shaped like legs with feet possessing heels adjustable to size. Air, the heat of which is regulated according to the delicacy of the silk, is blown through and flattens them out like new.

Stiff collars and other starched goods receive their own special course of treatment. Linens and rugs, in fact all things washable, in whatever quantities, are welcomed by the super-washwoman.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

The modern teacher attempts to fill the mind of each of her pupils with accurate and common sense information. Of course, the child does not always get exactly the right idea of what the teacher intends to convey.

For instance, a twelve-year-old friend of mine was discussing with me the other day what had been taught him about gall-stones. He told me the teacher said alcohol would dissolve them. But when I suggested that perhaps this is an argument against the Volstead Act, he hastened to say the treatment is useful for children only and would do harm to grown people. Then he added that he might be mistaken about the particular drug, possibly it was not alcohol the teacher mentioned.

Of course, it wasn't but it is just this way ideas get started. Somebody misunderstands or fails to remember exactly what was said about some ailment. He passes on to others his mistaken notion and pretty soon all the world may hold to a false notion.

Most people believe that a foreign body in the ear may "work its way into the brain." This is a silly idea, absolutely without foundation. What does happen, however, is that ignorant and awkward efforts to remove it are likely to drive the thing deeper and deeper into the ear canal.

At the bottom of the canal is the ear drum, a delicate membrane which guards the middle ear. If roughness and unskillful efforts are used to remove the foreign body, it may be pushed down against the drum and may even rupture the membrane. This causes pain and real harm.

Sometimes, in the mistaken idea that a foreign body had entered the ear, an overzealous friend, in his efforts to remove it, has actually destroyed the drum and scraped out the little bones. Damage which can never be repaired may be done in a few minutes.

There is a funny old saying attributed to a wise doctor, that "nothing should be put in the ear except the point of the elbow." That is good advice for the layman.

There are times, of course, when, for one reason or another, when the doctor cannot be reached, it is advisable to remove the foreign body. If that emergency arises, gentle syringing is all you should attempt. Warm water and a gentle flow of the fluid into and out of the ear, will probably accomplish the desired result. But no

It is not much of a job to change gears, is it?

You may not have the same comfort and general peace of mind, but, if your car is the best that you can afford, why grumble about it.

Be happy in the thought that you can drive as good a car as you have. Isn't it better to ride in a car the payments on which you can meet, than to possess a better one that is robbing you of all other kinds of pleasure in order to meet payments on it?

Freedom from disturbing thoughts is worth a lot.

Kitty Has Lost Her Peg.

The report of the international conference of scientists in Paris that the one sure way of eliminating the rapidly increasing horde of rats is to cultivate cats, "whetting their natural instincts until they become militant hunters," leaves us without enthusiasm. All these conferences appear to know about cats was learned when they were boys and cats were raters, which they aren't any more.

While we hesitate to intimate that the pussies that have come under our observation have formed an entente cordiale with the rats of our neighborhood, it is, however, apparent that they do not harbor any great resentment against the rodents. A family of rats at play in the sunlight back of the garage interests our cat about as much as the reparations provisions of the treaty of Versailles.

The trouble is that cats of this generation have been pampered too much. They feed on the best the family table affords and find no need to hunt. When one, in a burst of energy, catches a rat, she gets smart Alecky about it and brings it into the parlor with an air of having done something marvelous. Then, she goes back to her silken cushion and takes a recuperative sleep. In the problem of rat-eradication, we fear the cat is out.—Columbus Dispatch.

How Much Water Should Baby Get?
A Famous Authority's Rule
By Ruth Brittain

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months, babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold. Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty cent bottles contain thirty-five doses.

The after-dinner program included: Invocation—Rev. T. E. Walsh, Chaplain.

Address of welcome—Mrs. Audrey Denmore, grand regent.

Toast mistress—Mrs. Neil Wyand.

Address—Miss Kathryn U. Mylett, state grand regent of Cleveland.

Vocal solo—"Serenade" from The Student Prince—Miss Phyllis Fitzgerald, accompanied by Mrs. Joan Harrison Wright.

Address—Rev. E. J. Gracey, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church of Wellsville.

Song—Court Dunne.

Reading—Miss Loyola Moroney of New Brighton.

Address—Miss Nora King, vice state regent of Pennsylvania.

Vocal solo—"Rose in the Bud" and "Her Dream"—Mrs. Irene Disch, accompanied by Mrs. Wright.

Closing prayer—Rev. James H. Smith chaplain of the Junior Catholic Daughters.

Guests were present from New Brighton, Beaver Falls, Midland, Steubenville, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Brides in Ten Cities Tell Housekeeping Plans

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A thousand brides in ten large cities disclosed their household plans in a recent survey.

On one point all these brides agreed. Their homes are to be run with skill, but they will not sacrifice a bit of good looks or charm. For instance, nearly all have decided how they will keep nice hands in spite of housework.

Many had noticed in beauty parlors that pure Lux suds are used in manicuring, to soften and whiten the fingers. Others had noticed how nice their hands looked after washing fine things with Lux. So, of 1,118 brides, 1,084, or 97%, plan to wash dishes with Lux.

"It's so easy never to let your hands get red and coarse-looking," they said. "Many soaps make the skin harsh, but pure Lux suds are so soothing and gentle! And Lux for dishes is inexpensive, too, because the big package of Lux washes 6 weeks' dishes."

Yes, We Were Right In Our Theory

The Women of East Liverpool and Vicinity Do Want a Popular Priced Store.

This, they demonstrated beyond all shadow of a doubt by their hearty response to our opening announcement. And, if real enthusiasm is any indication, we need not worry further about the success of our undertaking.

We anticipated many visitors—but they overwhelmed us—our floor space was too small and our sales force inadequate to accommodate the crowds. Many came out of curiosity alone—'tis true. But those that did, came away with their eyes open to the fact that there was a store where they could buy "style without extravagance"—"Quality without excessive cost"—a store where the latest seasonable modes in Ladies' apparel and furnishings are shown, but always at popular prices.

We thank you for your hearty response to our Opening invitation and trust that we may have the pleasure of serving you many times in the future.

U. S. TIRES AT MOORE-MACKEY
COMPANY HERE

"U. S." Trademark
Guarantee of Reliability and Quality.

To you, Mr. Motorist, the United States Rubber Co. trademark is your guarantee of unquestioned and unquestionable quality.

No one can scan a few of the multitude of facts about this company, and fail to sense that here indeed is far-sighted cooperation in meeting the modern world's requirements in rubber and its products.

Throughout the entire rubber industry the world over, there is not another trademark which means as much to the user of rubber products of every kind, large and small, as this sign of "U. S." Rubber, according to the Moore and Mackey Tire Service, agents in East Liverpool for this great company.

The Moore and Mackey company realize that there are many car owners in this community who want good dependable tires at a low price.

It is possible, they point out, that some do not know that such tires are made by a manufacturer of established reputation—that it is no longer necessary to hunt for "bargain" tires of questionable origin in order to find tires at a moderate price.

They are glad to offer the USCO line of United States tires to people who want real economy in tire equipment.

But here—let them tell you about their USCO line of tires, themselves: USCO Fabric.

"It is a surprise to many car owners that a fabric tire can be made to give the service built into the USCO fabric. It is constructed of the best fabric materials under the latest methods of production. The tread is made of tough rubber that wears exceptionally well. If you use fabric tires on your car, it will pay you to try the USCO fabric. Each tire carries the same trademark and warranty of the United States Rubber Co.

USCO Balloon.
"A low-priced balloon tire that the United States Rubber Co. is proud to put their name, trademark and warranty on. It is built for the car that does not need the extra quality of first line balloons. Strong and flexible it gives full balloon cushioning over a long period of time.

USCO Cord.
"This is the standard of low-priced pressure tire equipment. Made for cars of average requirements whose owners want the assurance of an established maker's warranty."

Yes, indeed, the United States Rubber Company trademark is your guarantee of unquestioned and unquestionable quality.

"Get more for your money" is Moore and Mackey's tip to motorists and, as well, truck operators.

In relation to trucks, they point out that "Real tire economy starts with getting the proper type of tire for the particular job. Probably more money is wasted on WRONG tires every year than on poor ones.

"Engineers of the United States Rubber Co. have studied the problems of truck operation. They have conducted exhaustive tests, in the laboratory and on the road. The tires in the U. S. Truck Tire line are their answers to these specific problems.

"Whatever the requirements, you will find the right tire in the United States line. Not just a truck tire, but THE particular truck tire."

Let Moore and Mackey help you with your tire problems. You will find them at 134 West Sixth street; phone 587-R.

It's convenient... it's economical... it's protection to your health—The Copeland Dependable Electric Refrigerator.

The advantages of Copeland Dependable Electric Refrigeration are manifold and yet they can easily be classified under these three heads. Strangely enough, the matters of convenience and economy, generally the first considered, are in reality of second importance to the question of health protection. The health of One's Family is something that can not be measured in dollars and cents and is a matter to which Copeland Electric Refrigeration contributes materially.

Eminent health authorities have agreed that a constant temperature below 50 degrees must be maintained for the proper preservation of food stuffs. Copeland keeps an even temperature of approximately 10 degrees lower than the danger mark of "50." This assures to the family, foods that are fresh and untainted by the insidious bacteria growths which make improperly cooled food unfit for human consumption, ever before it becomes apparent that it has spoiled.

As a matter of convenience, it is no longer necessary to worry over the ice supply. Your food is kept perfectly, whether you are away from home for a day, a few days or a week. Then too, the wait for the "ice man," the mess and bother often attendant, are things of the past. After enjoying the advantages of a Copeland, a return to the old fashioned methods is like changing from the automobile back to the ox cart.

The economy of a Copeland, and in this we do not include other makes of electric or mechanical refrigerators, is so marked as to make the purchase of one of these machines a real investment, and a desirable feature on this count alone. A Copeland, owing to its wonderful efficiency, will cut your ice bill approximately in half for any given size storage space.

Dependability, quiet operation, unusually large food storage space, the absence of an unsanitary drain pipe, unusual economy and a greater capacity of ice cubes are a few features of Copeland. The line includes both pyroxylin lacquer and all porcelain cabinets, in white or colors and ranging in price from $195 to $1000 and can be purchased from income with but a small cash payment.

The health guarding features of Copeland, the convenience, the economy, combine to make of it a thing of necessity in every modern home.

The many homes in which the Copeland have been installed know and appreciate its many advantages. To those considering the purchase of electric refrigeration, the Elco Motors Co., distributors for the Copeland here, extend a cordial invitation to consult with them, without obligation of any nature. The Elco Motors Co., is located in East Fifth street at Walnut.

West Virginia Still Counting Dem Votes

Battle for State's 16 Delegates in Houston Convention is Undecided, But Smith Forces Appear to Have Majority.

The battle for West Virginia's 16 votes at the Democratic national convention remained undecided today, almost a week after the electors had tallied in the state-wide primary.

So close was the margin separating the delegates supporting Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and those opposed to him under the banner of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, that the official count may be necessary to decide some of the contests.

After first leaning toward the anti-Smith faction, the race tightened up yesterday and then pointed toward the Smith forces. Each succeeding tabulation, however, has switched the positions of some of the candidates, but in several instances only a comparatively few votes separated the representatives of the two factions.

For the moment the standing was 11½ votes for Smith and four and a half votes for the anti-Smith group. The count represented a gain of one vote for Smith over the last tabulation Saturday. It was made in the second district, where the returns from Pendleton county switched the position of Cleveland M. Seibert, Smith-pledged, and Samuel T. Spears, anti-Smith—a matter of 105 votes separated them.

The vote from Grant and Mineral counties was still missing.

Although the majority of delegates did not signify any presidential preference, supporters of Senator Goff claimed that at least 18 members of the delegation, including seven of the delegates at large, would cast their ballots for the "favorite son." The primary law in West Virginia carries no legal obligation upon delegates to support the preferential choice, but political leaders have held that the result carries a moral obligation to vote for Senator Goff.

Three Republican candidates for delegate filed for Hoover and only one of them appeared to have weathered the popular vote for Goff. Wade Penner of Clarksburg led the delegate ticket in the third district and had a margin of a thousand votes over the third man and 500 votes over the second man.

Step into the 1929 Reo Automobile

In Port Today

This day of June, 1928, Reo announces the 1929 Flying Clouds.

Reo can give you 1929 automobiles in the heart of the 1928 season for a very, very simple reason.

Reo is an independent organization and a producer of only a moderate number of cars. Refinements, changes, new ideas can be put into and through production faster than in the huge immobile plants from which come most of America's automobiles.

Reo blue prints can materialize in Reo cars many, many months sooner than do those of other reputable automobiles.

As a result, the New Reo Flying Clouds give you today what other cars may try to give you one year from today—in 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today a new fleetness, for one mile or one hundred, that will still be the envy of many cars—in 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today the ability to sweep from zero miles per hour to what you will, faster than many cars will do even in 1929.

REO MOTOR CAR COMPANY • Lansing, Michigan

The New Flying Clouds give you today the agility in traffic, and steering ease that other cars will try to develop—for 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today distinctive new lines, sweepingly simple lines, that some other manufacturer may imitate—by 1929.

The new Flying Clouds give you today luxurious interiors that someone else may copy—for 1929.

The New Flying Clouds give you today the riding ease that many cars will strive to have—for 1929.

The new Flying Clouds give you today the four-wheel internal expanding (not external contracting) hydraulic brakes that safety demands may force many other cars to adopt—in 1929.

These things can be yours in June, 1928, in the New Flying Clouds, for the very simple reason that Reoblueprints become Reo automobiles many months sooner than do those of other reputable cars.

Step into the 1929 automobile—the New Flying Cloud—and try it out yourself.

CALL INQUIRY ON CHARGES OF P. M. JOB SALES

Senator Brookhart
Heads Quiz in South.

SUMMER SESSION

Suicide at Douglas,
Ga., Cause of Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—An exhaustive investigation of charges that postmasterships have been bought and sold in the south was promised today by Senator Brookhart (R.) of Iowa, chairman of the special investigating committee named by the senate.

The committee will get under way shortly after the Republican national convention and will continue its inquiry all during the summer, Brookhart said.

"Whether there is any merit in the charges that public offices have been bartered away in the south I do not know, but if the charges are true the thing ought to be rooted out," said Brookhart.

The committee will go into every phase of the matter and give all sides an opportunity to be heard.

The investigation, resulted from the joint demand of Senators Harris and George, Democrats, of Georgia, will be the first ever conducted in this field.

It was brought about largely by the sensational suicide of L. S. Peterson, postmaster at Douglas, Ga., who left correspondence on which the Georgia senators based charges that the job was bought and sold.

Republican national committeemen especially will come under the scrutiny of the committee.

CORONER RULES IN AUTO CRASH

"Blow Over Heart"
Killed Mrs. Belle McDevitt.

Funeral services for the victim will be held in the McDevitt home near the East Liverpool Country club at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in charge of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

"Lady Lindy" Lands

Gordon hails from San Antonio, Tex., where he was born in 1901. He served in the army air service from 1919 to 1920. For the last two years he has been associated with the Reynolds Airways corporation as a flight mechanic.

Fully loaded, including the weight of its three passengers, the plane weighs a little more than six tons.

Looks Like Lindbergh.

BOSTON, June 4.—"Lady Lindy" today America has a heroine of the vaulted spaces capable of intriguing the imagination like Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Tall, slight, with curly, yellow, bobbed hair, Miss Amelia M. Earhart, 30, who is co-pilot of the London-bound monoplane "Friendship," bears remarkable resemblance to Lindbergh, whose air trail she is following.

"She looks more like Lindbergh than Lindbergh himself," declared Brynjulf Standenæs, Norwegian artist, who made life portrait studies of Lindy and who was in Boston last week.

And like Lindbergh Miss Earhart, college girl, settlement worker, former holder of the altitude championship for women and veteran of 500 solo hours of flying, has an infectious smile that wins one and all.

Undoubtedly, it prompted a deck-hand, who watched as she boarded the Friendship just before its pontoons scudded aloft from the waters of Boston harbor, to cry out while he pointed a smug paw.

"Lady Lindy!"

Weather Conditions Perfect.
ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 4.—Weather conditions at Trepassy island, next stop on the proposed trans-Atlantic flight of Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Sultz and Louis Gordon, were reported as perfect today. There was a gentle wind from the northwest, the sky was clear and there was no sign of fog. All was in readiness for a landing.

tempted to Dump

LEE, TRAINMEN'S CHIEF, DEFEATED

Push Draft Plan

of 90 votes, a dozen votes in Illinois, nearly all of Pennsylvania, a whole flock in New England, and a lot in the south were being held outside the Hoover column on the "draft Coolidge" plea. The anti-Hoover leaders can't let go.

In the end, it probably comes down to the diminutive figure of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. The 79 votes that he will control of Pennsylvania likely will prove the bell-weather of the balloting. The question of how Pennsylvania will go on the first ballot has become, for the time being at least, the most interesting and significant question of the convention.

Eyes on Pennsylvania.
If Pennsylvania goes to Hoover on the first ballot, the chances are that it will be quickly over with the nomination of Hoover assured. The cabinet candidate can count between 450 and 500 votes outside the Keystone state, unless instructions and pledges are violated. Furthermore, Pennsylvania going for Hoover would be accepted at the "tip-off" that Mr. Mellon knew that President Coolidge would not consent to the draft.

If, on the other hand, Pennsylvania's votes go to Mr. Coolidge it will galvanize the anti-Hoover forces into electric energy. Or should Pennsylvania's votes be held, for example, for Mr. Mellon himself the fact will be interpreted as indicating that the Sphinx-like little man from Pittsburgh is willing to lend the tremendous weight of his intelligence to the task of stopping his colleague in the cabinet.

Pennsylvania holds the key to the situation as has few other single states in Republican history. For as Pennsylvania goes quite probably goes the convention.

VODREY PLANT WILL SUSPEND

Plan Shut-down
Until Business
Improves.

Plant of the Vodrey Pottery company, East Fourth and College streets, will suspend operations within the next few weeks until "such a time as business conditions improve," John W. Vodrey, president of the company announced today.

The shops will continue to operate until the supply of raw materials has been exhausted and the stocks of ware, now in the process of manufacture, have been moved.

"We are not closing permanently but until such a time as business conditions improve," said Vodrey.

The plant has been running on a four-day week basis, producing white and decorated lines. It has six bisque and glaze kilns. This company was established in 1847 by Jabez Vodrey, grandfather of John Vodrey. For many years it was known as Woodward, Blake and company but in 1896 was incorporated as the Codrey company.

The men are said to have quarreled in Smith's barn, when Smith was fatally shot.

Flyers Near Suva

at the rate of 100 miles per hour. The weather was reported fair and everything apparently was fine. Then suddenly came this sickening message:

"One motor sounds bad. Have dropped to 60 miles an hour."

At that hour the plane was 1,000 miles out from Honolulu and 700 miles from the nearest land—the tiny Phoenix group of islands.

For 20 minutes a watching world waited in anxiety. Then finally came this message:

"Motors not so steady, but no danger. Speed at present 80 knots."

Twenty-five agonizing minutes later came this:

"Have encountered many small rain storms and recently the starboard motor was sputtering. All O. K. now."

At midnight, Pacific coast time, the Southern Cross passed over the equator, 1,670 miles from Barking Sands. The plane was averaging 100 miles an hour. Approximately 1,500 uncertain miles and 17 monaging hours were still ahead of the fliers.

At 1 o'clock this morning, Pacific time, the huge monoplane was in clear view of the constellation "Southern Cross" for which it was named.

The equator had been crossed, and the plane continued roaring on its way at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Pass Over Phoenix Islands.

SYDNEY, Australia, June 4.—The trans-Pacific plane "Southern Cross" was over the Phoenix islands on its hop from Kaula Hawaii to Suva, Fiji islands, at 1:34 p. m. (Greenwich mean time) or 8:34 a. m. New York daylight saving time, said a radio-gram from C. E. Kingsford-Smith, co-pilot of the machine, today.

Phoenix islands are south of the equator and approximately 1,800 statute miles from Kaula.

A radiogram from the Southern Cross at 3:10 p. m. (G. M. T.) said that the plane was doing well but that "the weather was not so clear as we would like to have it."

A radiogram received at 4:32 o'clock (Greenwich time) gave the position of the Southern Cross as latitude six degrees west, longitude 173.12 degrees west. Kingsford-Smith reported that "it is rough riding" and that there was only one generator for light.

MARION, O., June 4.—Marion's Sunday theater fight was at a standstill today, following the decision of Probate Judge L. B. McNeal, who ruled he had no jurisdiction to hear charges against 15 theater owners and employees of three theaters who were arrested yesterday and charged with violating the Sabbath law.

The employees, including Managers E. F. Sharpless of the Grand, J. J. Huebner of the Oakland, and Ora DeWeese of the Princess, were arrested on warrants filed by Marvin Crabtree, a factory worker, of Marion county.

Though placed under arrest the managers of the three theaters kept their houses open.

Sharpless is under indictment for Sunday operation of his theater. Two previous trials of Sharpless have ended with hung juries.

A dog or a person will die within less than four days after the disease develops, physicians claim. There is no cure for rabies once it finds its way into the blood, medical men say.

A post-mortem examination into the death of Mrs. Alma Herrington Whitehill, who died in her home in Minerva street Saturday, was conducted Saturday night. Physicians are awaiting the laboratory report from Columbus. Dr. C. A. Shafer, Chester, who attended her, today expressed the opinion that Mrs. Whitehill had died of rabies.

BLAST AND FIRE AT STAMFORD

STAMFORD, Conn., June 4.—Two explosions followed by fire, apparently sweeping a large area, called all of Stamford's fire fighting forces to the plant of Richard & Co., A Du Pont de Nemours corporation subsidiary, in South Stamford shortly after 8 a. m. today.

No casualties resulted from the explosions, as far as could be determined half an hour after firemen reached the plant.

The Richard & company plant has been the scene of serious fires in the past. The concern makes leather goods. During the war the plant manufactured gun cotton, large quantities of chemicals are used in making the present output of the plant, and it is believed the explosions today occurred among chemicals.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 4.—Speculative industrial and railroad stocks were turned over in large volume in the early trading today without important changes in prices, one way or the other. Profit-taking and professional selling was counterbalanced by the enormous outside demand for stocks of the motor, copper, oil, steel, equipment and other American producers, and the passing of the June "squeeze" in the money markets is expected to add to purchasing facilities of the American public. Call money was unchanged at 6 per cent.

General Motors was freely offered around 200, and was unable to improve on its opening price of 262. Packard Motor, Chrysler, Studebaker and other motor shares sold within a small radius of Saturday's closing prices. Radio dropped back six points to 217 when offerings crowded the market. The packing companies were active and strong, under the lead of Armour, for which higher earnings are estimated this year.

The first industrial and business reports of the week were favorable freight car loadings have been gradually increasing, in contrast to the same period last year, when the seasonal decline was under way. Prominent leaders in the gasoline industry reported the discontinuance of premiums to buyers in the middle west and eastern consuming centers, and the high volume of building contracts was still in evidence.

Bullish pools rushed along a few of the speculative industrials in the second hour, making their favorites "active on the tape." Railway Steel Springs featured the equipments, Victor Talking Machine the specialties and Armour of Illinois the packing stocks. Fox Film sold in volume above 90 and U. S. Steel was well bought around 145.

Chicago Grains.—Grains opened lower today; wheat was down 7-8 to 1-14c; corn unchanged to 3-8c lower and oats 1-8 to 3-8c lower. Opening prices: Wheat—July, 146 1/4 to 147; September, 148 1/4; December, 150 1/4 to 150 3/4.

Suffers Running Sore 10 Years

Old Time Remedy Starts Healing in Five Days.
Every person suffering from old sores and ulcers should know about the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment. Thousands have used it with joyful success after treatments and other remedies have failed. "I am not much of a writer, but will give you a good ad for Peterson's Ointment if you care to publish it. I am a woman twenty-four years of age, and have had a running sore just above my ankle for over 10 years. I tried doctors and almost every kind of a salve, but failed to heal it. A year ago I got a box of your Peterson's Ointment and in five days' time I could tell that it was healing. It took only one 25 cent box and two sixty cent boxes in all. So I advise every man, woman or child to use Peterson's Ointment, for it is worth the price and is good to keep on hand."—Mrs. Fay Korenchuk, Chicago, Ill.

That's the kind of a healing ointment Peterson's is and one 25 cent box from your druggist will prove it.

Rickard's Men Urge Him To Shave Prices On Fight Ducats

Fear Blight This Year On Cauliflower Trade

Infer That $40 Tap on the Skull for Tunney-Heeney Enterprise is Hitting the Customers Too Hard.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 4.—With many of our great intellects hastening to confess that the frost is on the pumpkin in so far as summer boxing in New York is concerned, it is worthy of note today that men in his organization have warned Tex Rickard that he is overplaying his hand. They didn't actually mention the Tunney-Heeney heavyweight championship match in this connection but it is suspected that this inference was intended, among others, they think that Rickard has reached the point where he imagines that the sap starts running in the spring mostly because it is in such a terrible hurry to reach the Garden box office.

In fine, they fear Rickard is charging too much for ordinary fights, particularly in view of the blight that is supposed to be on the industry this year. Rickard plans to tap the patients on the cranium for $40 or more in the ring-side rows at the Tunney-Heeney enterprise and today, in the face of his recent admission that it looks like a very short line before the paymaster's window this season, he re-affirmed his forecast that this fight will gross a million and a half dollars. He said he could tell this by the way the reservations are coming in and I guess that explanation will suffice until somebody thinks of a good one.

Any fight between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney shouldn't gross much over a million and I can't help it if Rickard is a man who ought to know what he is talking about. He guessed wrong on the Mandell-McLarin fight and that doesn't make him so much better than a misg who somehow manage to guess wrong on nearly all of them.

However, his employees were more specifically concerned with the immediate future—next Thursday night, to be precise. They told Rickard they thought that $11 for a ringside seat was too much for a return bout between Mike McGuire and Armand Emmanuel. Personally, I know it's too much to pay to see McGuire do anything, except retire from the ring but, of course, I'm not one of the patients and I can stay away in a body without affecting Rickard's apoplexy in the slightest. But even a patient is likely to recollect that he knows too little about Emmanuel and too much about McGuire and so take his money into the nearest roulette game. It will disappear there, too, but at least he will know why it did.

It seems to me that the most interesting commentary on the fight game hereabouts was furnished the other night by the Loughran-Lazio light heavyweight championship fight. It didn't figure much, in truth, but one might think that more than $18,000 worth of patients would fall in line in this great, big preserve of the come-on, even for a match between Luke McLake and his stepfather.

Dickey Hurls Baseball Defiance At Cronin Co.

Seeks Three-game Series for Pottery Title.

Manager Joseph Dickey of the Homer Laughlin City League club today tossed a challenge at the New Cumberland Cronin China club for a three-game series to determine the pottery baseball championship of Hancock county.

The Cronins recently played the Laughlins on Wells Athletic Field, Newell, and went away with a 5-4 decision.

And now, in order, as Dickey says, "to demonstrate that the victory of the Cronin China company was in no sense a measure of the comparative class of the two teams, we hereby issue a challenge for a three-game series."

Dickey announces that representatives of the Laughlin club will confer at any time or place with Cronin club officials to complete arrangements for the series if the county seaters decide to play.

Grattan Bars Derby Favorite.

CLEVELAND — Grattan Bars, the fast Canadian pacer in the stable of Vic Fleming at the North Randall track here, now rules the favorite in the future book for the $25,000 American Derby to be raced at Kalamazoo, Mich., July 17. He is quoted at 8 to 1. Winnipeg, another Canadian invader, is second choice at 10 to 1. Daisy Grattan, who is in charge of Nat Ray, champion reinsman of 1926, is held next in favor at 12 to 1.

Laughlin Club Holds Champs To 10-7 Count

Riser Turns in Good Slab Performance for Newell.

Homer Laughlin City League entry again demonstrated that it is beginning to hit its real stride when it held the hard-hitting East Side Civics of Youngstown to a 10-7 count in their game at Newell Saturday afternoon.

Wright, starting the game for the Laughlin against the Mahoning and Trumbull county champions, performed creditably until the fourth when the visitors pounced on him for six hits, which, with a pass, netted them six runs.

In Laughlin's half of the same frame, however, the Potters also rallied to shove over an even half-dozen counters, also.

Finley walked and reached second on Simeco's single, both scoring on Merchant's double. After Dignan was retired, Watson singled through short and counted on Rubin's two-base clout. Randall reached first on Whalen's error. At this juncture, Carl Riser, veteran Newell pitcher, was sent in to pinch hit for Wright. Riser filled the bill by crashing through a single to score two runners.

This barrage of blows caused Mangus to retire in favor of George.

Cagge-maker Riser went to the hill-ock for Laughlin and surprised fans with his excellent work. He held the Youngstowners' runless until the ninth when two runs were counted on two hits and an infield error. Riser permitted five scattered blows and two runs, while fanning five batters in the five frames he worked.

Fans Toss Bottles At Moran

Near-riot Features Bucs' 7-5 Win From Robins.

By Less Conklin.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Brooklyn's pennant-hungry fans are saying it with pop bottles these days when the breaks go against the Robins, and umpires officiating in the no-man's land of the National league are considering the advisability of putting their masks on backwards. Umpire Charley Moran had to be escorted off Ebbets Field by police after yesterday's red-hot game between Pittsburgh and Brooklyn, which Outfielder Jigger Statz apparently had saved for the Robins by making a phenomenal shoestring catch of Trapp's Texas leaguer with two on base in the ninth.

Moran ruled that Statz's alleged catch was a pick-up. Two Pittsburgh runs scored on the hit and the game went into extra innings, the Pirates winning out in the fourteenth by a 5 to 7 score. After making his decision, Moran was the target for the greatest shower of pop bottles ever unleashed by a Brooklyn crowd. The contest was halted for a few minutes.

The game was won on the fifth hit made during the afternoon by Pete Scott, converted outfielder playing first base for Pittsburgh. Barnhart, with four hits, was another hero.

Forty-five thousand fans saw the Giants get partial revenge for the four straight defeats they suffered in Chicago by trouncing the Cubs, 10 to 5. Artie Nehf, former Giant, was kayoed. Fitzsimmons, New York twirler, helped win his own game with a double and a triple. The Giants now trail the league-leading Reds by only three games.

These two heavy scoring games, following the wild slugging in Saturday's contests, make a total of 114 runs and 19 homers for the last six National league games played.

The Detroit Tigers, who seemed primed to stop the Yankees after their four straight victories over Cleveland, were plastered by the league leaders again, 7 to 2. Babe Ruth walked early with a lame ankle, but Buster Gehrig obliged with his eleventh homer, a gorgeous sock in the first inning that was New York's first hit off Whitehill. Hey did the throwing for the winners and Catcher Pat Collins covered more ground than a circus tent by making a putout at second base.

The game drew the largest Detroit crowd of the year, 38,000.

The Athletics trail the Yanks by 8½ games. Fox's homer with two on in the ninth wasn't enough and they lost to the White Sox, 6 to 5. Metzler got four hits while Ty Cobb went hitless and dropped below the .300 mark to .298.

Charley Ruffing of the Red Sox scalped the Indians, 4 to 3 and the Sox regained fifth place from Detroit. Other teams did not play.

Turf Briefs

Likes High Noon.

COLUMBUS, O.—Charley Valentine, "Long Shot Vally," they call him on the Grand circuit, believes he has a good possibility for the two-minute list in the trotter, High Noon, 2:04 1/2. The horse showed rare promise last year when he carried five races and trotted to his record over the North Randall track, Cleveland. This season he is displaying great speed and Valentine says: "I'll be greatly disappointed if this horse doesn't trot in two minutes."

High Noon has a series of rich engagements, the most important of which is the $12,500 Hoter Secor at Toledo, the week of July 9.

Looks Like Champ.

HANOVER, Pa.—A trotting aristocrat that should develop into a champion has come into the world at the Hanover Shoe Farms here. It is a brown colt by Mr. McElwain, 1:59 1/4, the only horse that has beaten two minutes as a three-year-old, and from the sensational futurity winner, Volga, 2:04 1/2, by Peter the Great.

Handles Three Favorites.

TOLEDO, O.—Ben F. White, the famous trotting colt trainer, finds himself in a unique position in connection with the $12,500 Hotel Secor trot to be raced here the week of July 9. He has all three of the equal favorites for the race in his stable. They are Kahla Dillon, 2:02 1/2; Kashmir, 2:03 1/2, and Benelwyn, 2:04 3/4, all listed at 10 to 1.

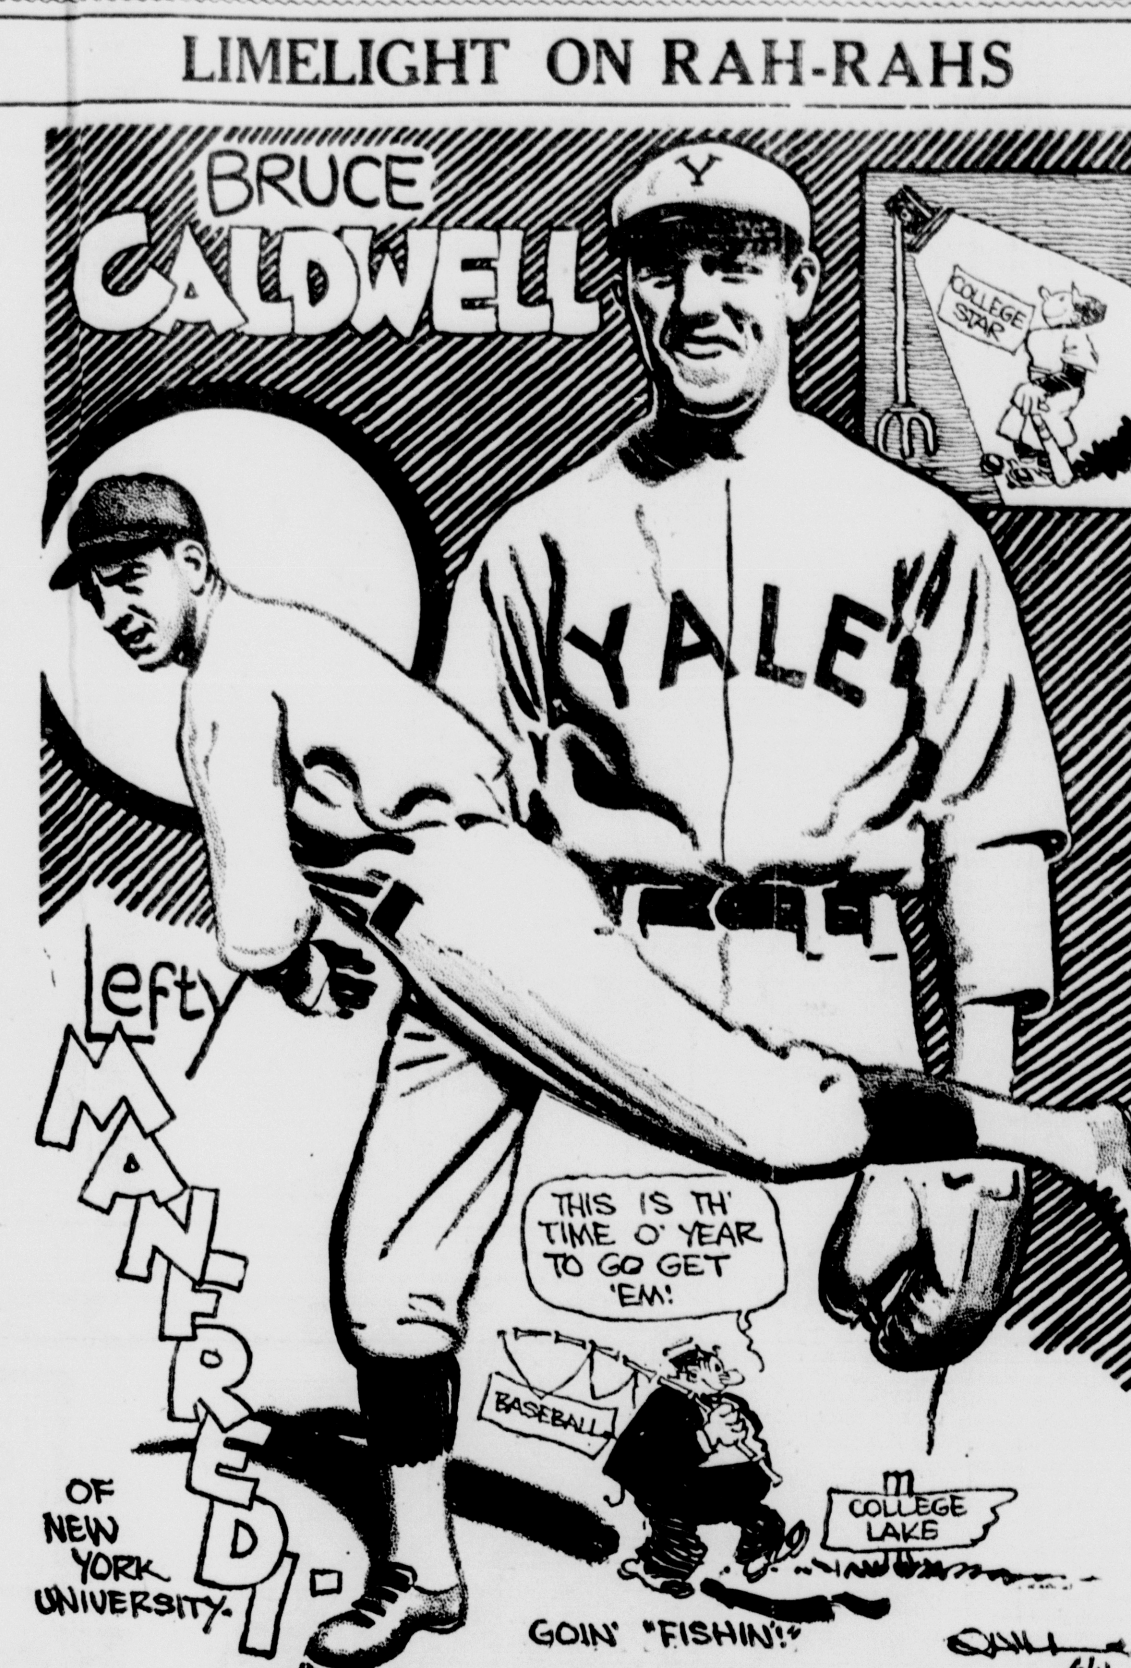

From Stockyards to Fame.

TOLEDO, O.—From a horse that was hauling feed last year at the Memphis, Tenn. stockyards to a $3,000 pacer is the sensational rise of Uncle Cad, a green performer in the stable of Ben Whitehead at the Ft. Miami track here.

The horse was placed in Whitehead's chagres last winter and when shipped here this spring, he proved the faste of the early arrivals with a mile in 2:07 1/4 and quarter better than 29 seconds. The performance led to his purchase by John A. Penner, Johnstown, Pa., fancier, for $3,000. Uncle Cad is a son of Twinkling Dan and is expected to be seen in action at the opening Grand Circuit meeting here, June 25-30.

Note Sire Destroyed.

COLUMBUS, O.—The noted standardbred sire, Todd Mac, 2:07 3/4, owned by James Wertwater, Columbus, was destroyed. He sired the two famous performers, Anna Bradford, 2:00 3/4, holder of the world record for three-year-old pacing fillies, and Miss Ellen Todd, 2:01 3/4, pacer, 2:06 1/4, trotting, world champion double-gaited mare.

Allen is Olympic Prospect

Salem Pole Vaulter Will Try Out at Harvard Meet.

Lowell Allen, Salem's phenomenal schoolboy pole vaulter, will be given a chance to make America's Olympic team as a result of his record-breaking performance Saturday in the national scholastic track and field meet at Chicago.

Allen soared to a new record when he pulled himself over the cross bar at a height of 13 feet, 3 1/2 inches to better the mark of 12 feet, 10 1/2 inches made by Thomas Warne of Kokomo, Ind., in 1927.

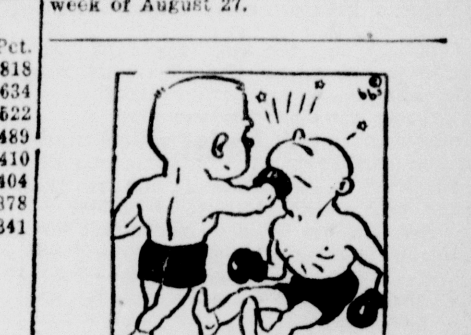

On the basis of his performance, Allen, along with Stanley Sykes of Baton Rouge and Don Bennett of Toledo Libbey were picked by Coach Alonzo Stang of the University of Chicago to try out for the American Olympic team at Harvard next month.

Stokes set a new national interscholastic record for the 120-yard high hurdles, taking the barriers in the remarkable time of 15 and 2/10 seconds.

The Constant Flame

Narrative of Love and Struggle
Against Temptations
By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Emily felt herself wondering about him a little. Won- one besides just a friend of Frances. Pleasant, perhaps, to go on receiving this homage. Other girls had that and now she knew she had missed it.

When his hand folded around hers she glanced down but did not move. It was when he spoke, his voice a bit husky, that she turned her head.

"Why did you do that, Emily? Don't you like me?"

"Of course I do."

He moved abruptly. But she sat there with the soft light on her fairness, a shiver creature, infinitely gra- cious. He tried to look away but his gaze came back.

"If I'm not satisfied with that, dear? Not just your liking? Have you ever been in love, Emily-of-my-heart?"

"Oh, love!" She smiled, thinking backward.

"You don't believe in love?" You don't think it the greatest thing in the world? After waiting long, being de- ceived many times, you think a man can't find it at last?"

Kindon Coles rather liked to dramatize himself. Not insincerely; he truly saw himself as the hero of situa- tions and this was his scene. It rolled along smoothly:

"The first moment I saw you Emily—heard you speak—beautiful, so different from every other woman in the world! Can't expect you to care, I suppose."

"Some day, darling? There'll never be anyone else for me. Always I'll be loving you."

He crushed her fingers to his lips and she was stirred. Love? Well, the world didn't whirl in a rosy light as it had seemed to that night at Elghehliffe. Nothing to strike down her heart in this, open it to hold the earth and a star.

She thought that, vaguely, and wondered why she could only think—not feel.

"So new to me, this is," flashed through her mind. "And I do like him. A lot. If I could care more—forget Kent—"

"There's no one else, Golden Girl?"

She remembered Marty then and what she had prom- ised her mother. It was like a cloud going over the sky. But she tore her thought from it. Fate to step in and rescue her—perhaps Kindon Coles was fate. Muz would like him. Who wouldn't?

He took her silence for denial; a time came when she looked back on the spell of that moment and was glad she had said nothing.

He put his head down and would have kissed her but Mrs. Haiden rose.

Emily turned back at the door and looked out over the river. A freighter was going up stream, lights about the pilot house like gleaming jewels. Another swept downward; their whistles spoke as they passed.

She glanced at her yellow flounces and the night wind seemed cold suddenly.

CHAPTER 20.

Three little girls were rushing down Main street again; fleeing before long rays of light thrust far out by the sinking sun.

Three heads nodding, the black, the brown, the red; three pairs of eyes darting this way and that, coming to- gether, glancing away. Three pairs of scarlet lips—too scarlet for young faces—smiling at anything or nothing.

People turning. Some saying, "There's the Brent kid. They're telling how her sister—"

Some asking, "Who's the little devil in the middle; one with the bright hair?"

One who said nothing but stared. Not a tall man, but one women usually saw. A dark face, depths in the eyes. Depths with an undertow. A hair smile, inviting as an upraised hand, curiously mocking.

Trim, dancer's figure in gray flannels, bronzed skin. A person somehow akin to the huge, sleek, wolf-dog pac- ing beside it.

Flossie wriggled and pinched Kitten's arm. "Know who it is? Nicky Wickert. Gosh! Say, look't the bound. Say—"

Kitten snapped, "Be yourself, can't you? What do I care who he is? Hope he remembers us next time."

But she knew he hadn't seen the others. And when she tried to stare back at him her lashes drooped and her face stained brightly.

Just passing there on the street his personality was like a flame searing through her; she quickened her step—hurried the other two on—but even when they stopped before the ice cream shop she could feel the tingle.

Now she glanced backward; he was standing where she had seen him first, the dog at his side, looking after her.

"Well, they say he's a great ole shok. All the swells crazy over him. What you sore about, Kitten? Sure gave you a tumble, he did."

"Will you shut up? Talk like a rubber dumbbell. I'm not going in here with you."

"Ah, we didn't mean anything Kitten. C'mon on—"

"No. Listen, Dottie; sneak home the back way so Em won't see you. If she snoops over stay out of sight. I'm with you, see? How about it?"

"Oh, Kit, tell us! Is it a date? Listen—"

"Maybe I will sometime. You'll do that, Dottie? Em's tha' grouchy."

Dottie said she would, her eyes very round. She turned into the ice cream shop reluctantly, and Kitten went on down Main street alone.

She turned at the River Road and began to walk slow- ly. At Brookside the big car of another adventure drew up and Ted Lanier helped her in.

"Thought you'd come, Red-head. How's my new girl?"

"You needn't be so sure of yourself and I'm not your girl."

"All right, Spit-fire. Will be, though. Where'll go?"

"You're driving."

"Careless as that, eh? Right-o, and don't forget you asked for it."

She stretched herself out on the deeply-cushioned seat and took off her hat. The car moved rapidly and smooth- ly and the feel of luxury wrapped her like velvet.

Living, this was; not the stupid, cat-on-the-hearth non- sense Emily always was winning at her.

What did it get Emily? Working her head off, getting all her kick out of crimping to buy a shop. As if a girl wanted to slave all her life? Em never did know how to play; when she found it out some day she'd be wrinkled and gray and nobody'd give her a tumble. Some people were so darn good—good it hurt to look at them.

"What you thinking about, Spit-fire?"

"Not you."

"Sweet tempered little thing aren't you? Need tam- ing."

"Suppose you're the one can do it, too?"

"Maybe, the boy drawled with a laugh. He turned the car up South Mountain and headed for the country, the way they had taken the other day."

He was a good looking chap. Kitten decided, and not stuckups even for the New. A slender young fel- low, not more than twenty-one, with a pleasant, frank face and eyes that looked straight at her when he spoke.

His hands weren't like a rich boy's either; they were hardened and stained. But that, she thought, might come from working around the car, since he probably drove a lot. She asked him if he was visiting in Lyall.

"Beginning to take an interest, I see."

"Don't flatter yourself."

"Yeh? Say, I like 'em snappy. No I'm living here and now I'm glad I am. You know why, too, Pepper- box. With the wind blowing your hair that way you look like a three-alarm fire."

"Old stuff."

"Well, you're no Miss Methusalem," he remarked and grinned at her look of fury.

When they came to Deep Valley Inn he turned up the drive. A half dozen cars were parked in the grounds and he moved in beside them, shutting off his engine without a word. Kitten protested.

"I didn't say I'd come here."

"You said I was driving. Of course if you don't want to stop—"

BELGRADE RIOT TOLL REACHES 12

VIENNA, June 4.—Four persons, injured in the recent anti-Italian rioting at Belgrade, have died of their wounds, bringing the total of such deaths in Yugoslavia in the past few days up to 12, said a dispatch from Belgrade this afternoon. The Jugoslavian government has published the text of a note sent to Italy regretting the anti-Italian outbreaks, promising to punish the guilty and to investigate the possible responsibility of local authorities where riots took place outside of Belgrade. The note pledged payment for damages.

By delivering gold from the rich Alban fields of Serbia by airplanes in a few hours instead of by train, which requires several days, development in that territory has been stimulated.

AUTO TAX CUT NETS MILLIONS

Motorists Will Save
Huge Sum During 12 Months.

A saving of $55,000,000 to American motorists during the next 12 months will be netted as a result of the repeal of the three per cent war excise tax on passenger automobiles.

This estimate has been made by Ernest N. Smith, general manager of the American Automobile association, in a communication to E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbia County Motor club. Smith asserts that the original five per cent on tires, parts, accessories and new cars gave the government revenue amounting to $1,100,000,000 since the war. The tax was cut from five to three per cent about three years ago.

Automobile manufacturers in urging the repeal of the excise tax on automobiles declared that the saving would be passed on to the car purchaser.

NO "KEYNOTER" AT STATE MEET

G. O. P. Gubernatorial
Candidates Invited to Speak.

COLUMBUS, O., June 4.—An innovation will mark the sessions of the Ohio Republican convention in Memorial hall here on June 23 and 24. Attorney Fred C. Warner, Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee, today announced that no "keynote" speech will be delivered at the convention.

Instead, he stated, candidates for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination will be invited to address the convention at the initial session which is to convene at 4 p. m., June 23.

U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, who is scheduled to deliver the "keynote" at the opening of the Republican national convention at Kansas City this month, in his capacity as temporary chairman, will address the convention here at the second day's session which is expected to start about 10 a. m., June 24, it was announced.

The program for the state convention as now arranged, it was announced, calls for big talks at the opening session by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, former Lieut. Gov. Charles H. Lewis, Harpster; Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati; U. S. District Attorney A. E. Bernstein, Cleveland, and Congressman James Begg, Sandusky, as candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

The main purpose of the constitution, as decreed by law, is to adopt a state platform and to select Republican candidates for membership in the electoral college to cast Ohio's votes for president and vice president next January. Electors will be chosen at the November election.

In the church. Orchestra practice will be held tomorrow evening.
